Happy Thanksgiving kemb

Thursday, 24 November 2022, will be our Special Day! Turkey with all the trimmings and giblet gravy will be on the table very soon. The gas logs in the fireplace will be turned on by a remote control for a little atmosphere even though the temperature is expected to be in the sixties. Thanksgiving is a highly valued holiday for family and friends with that warm and fuzzy feeling. Our legend is carried on.

We have issues in our country and the world to deal with like we have never seen before in our lifetime. There will be restrictions to deal with and we will comply and be safe.

Facebook Issues

Chris Beiler, former flight engineer, advises that Facebook users are getting cloned, not hacked. They don't need your password. Accounts with your photos and your name are being used to create a "new" Facebook account. Your Facebook friends will think it's you and accept the request. From that point on they can write whatever they want under your name. Ray Ardis has been on my personal Facebook page for many years and has his two grandchildren in there with him. Since that time, I have received four Facebook friend requests from Ray and of course they are all fakes. I have already deleted them, and I have many more to eliminate in my account. I had one under my cousin's name, Charles Lambert, asking if I had heard the good news about GCFB that gives $200,000 from the program and you're not required to pay it back. Dang! I haven't heard anything that slick since I used to walk the streets of New York City when I was assigned a TI at BMT, Sampson AFB NY. I can be sure none of you would ever fall for that one. They would need your checking account number to deposit the $200,000. If you ever see the words "hello, how are you" never respond back.

TSGT Steven M. Linder passed on 16 April 2020. Word has been put out that Steve passed just recently. Not true. I'm proudly publishing his Final Fly-By here once again to be sure.

Final Fly-By

TSGT Steven M. Linder, 300th Squadron Loadmaster, passed on 16 April 2020 after losing a long battle with cancer. Steve is survived by his wife Joanne. If you should wish to send your condolences to the family, you can reach Joanne at nofish95@hotmail.com. Steve will go down in history publishing our first webpage on Facebook, 315MAW/AW. This newsletter will be posted on there today by Tommy Peters, retired flight engineer.
